Location and Transport

The Clayton Hotel, Chiswick is situated close to the River Thames in west London and is well served with Bus, Train, Tube and Riverboat connections.

Bus routes include: 237, 267, 391, 440, H91 and the night bus N9

The closest tube and rail stations are Gunnersbury (Overground train), Chiswick Park (District Line), Kew Bridge (South Western Railway)

Accessibility information for London Transport can be found here:

If the weather is kind, it may be ideal to take a Riverboat

<http://wpsa.co.uk/index.asp> to either Hampton Court or Westminster Pier from Kew Bridge. Further details of their timetables will be published in April 2018.

Food and Drink

The Chiswick area is famous for the Fuller's Brewery. Fullers have been brewing beer in Chiswick for over 350 years and they run a selection of tours <https://www.fullers.co.uk/brewery/see-inside> from 11am until 3pm subject to availability.

For those unable to tour the brewery some local public houses such as The Dove <http://www.dovehammersmith.co.uk/find-us> and the Blue Anchor <https://www.blueanchorlondon.com/> can be found by the riverside.

Sipsmiths operates the first traditional copperpot distillery in London for nearly 200 years. They run distillery tours in the evenings, but we have been lucky enough to book them to come to the Conference venue for a presentation and gin-tasting on Tuesday 26th June at 6pm.

Culture and History

Chiswick House and Gardens <http://chiswickhouseandgardens.org.uk/> is in close proximity to the Clayton Hotel. The 18th Century Villa is open from 10am until 5pm and requires a ticketed entry. The Gardens are open daily from 7am until dusk. The Gardens are free to walk around.

The famous Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew <https://www.kew.org/> are also worthy of a visit with perhaps a visit to the Victorian Palm House, or the Arboretum and much more. Open daily from 10am until 5.45pm.

The National Archives <http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/about/visit-us/> which houses national records dating back over 1,000 years is also nearby. New for 2018 is an exhibition on Women's Suffrage in the Keeper's Gallery.

Syon House, the London home to the Duke of Northumberland, has limited opening hours on Sunday, Wednesdays and Thursday, but the Gardens are open daily 10.30 until 5pm daily <https://www.syonpark.co.uk/>

Other options include Kew Bridge - grade 2 listed bridge opened in 1903. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/File:Kew_Bridge_in_London_2007_Sept_21.jpg

Extending your stay in London

If you are extending your stay The London Museum of Water and Steam is based at Kew <https://www.waterandsteam.org.uk/> is open Wednesday to Friday.

For visitors new to London a City Tour Bus <https://city-sightseeing.com/en/home> will take in many of the sites with commentary.

Similarly, Free Walking Tours www.freelondonwalkingtours.com/ may help you to learn more history of the city.

Travelling further afield and taking either the tube or train, central London's attractions are not far away. Take in a view from the Shard or visit a museum or two.

The London Pass <https://www.londonpass.com/how-it-works/what-you-get-with-the-london-pass.html> will help with travel and discounts many attractions.

Sports

For the sports enthusiasts Dukes Meadows, open from 7am to 10pm <http://www.dukesmeadows.com/sports/> offer tennis, golf (par 3 course) golfing range on a pay and play basis. Don't worry if you forget your clubs, they hire them out. Tuition is also available for tennis and golf as well as ski-ing or snowboarding!! Booking advisable.
